Bombs Set Off In India Legislative Assembly Chamber

Several Indian Delegates Injured In Bomb Attack

Members of Legislative Assembly at Delhi Get Into Panic After Missiles Explode in Chamber; Sir John Simon Escapes Injury; Two Extremists Arrested and Confess.

Delhi, India, April 8.—Two bombs were exploded in the Indian Legislative Assembly Chamber today, sharp on the heels of a Parliamentary crisis. Several persons were injured and there was a panic among the assemblymen.

Among those injured was Sir George Schuster, finance member of the Viceroy's executive council. He and the other injured were taken to a hospital.

Sir John Simon, head of the Commission for Constitutional Reform in India, was standing with the President of the Assembly when the explosion occurred, but was not injured.

Others injured were Sir B. Raghavendra, Mr. Shankar, Rao, Das, Mr. Dyal, and Mr. J. N. Roy, deputy secretary of the Indian Central Committee, who was sitting in the officers' gallery. Roy died profusely.

Three Government benches were torn to bits by the bombs.

Two men were arrested and were reported to have confessed after other bombs and pistols had been found on their persons. They gave their names as Butukewara Dutt, from Bengal, domiciled at Calcutta, and Bhat Singh, from Punjab.

PAMPHLET THROWN

Thrown into the crowded Assembly room with the two bombs was a red pamphlet entitled "Hindustan Socialist Army" and signed by Balraj, honorary chief. Police who looked the doors to prevent the escape of the perpetrators had difficulty in restraining the crowd.

V. G. Patel, President of the Assembly, had just ruled that discussion should not be allowed on the public safety bill until next Saturday, when the trial of alleged communist conspirators recently arrested would be concluded.

The Government contested Patel's power to bar discussion.

SAVOY INQUIRY

Sir John Simon had just completed a period of investigation of facts and opinions, which British authorities regard as the most important undertaking of his visit. The commission's (Continued on page 2)

Canada's I'm Alone Note Is Sent To Washington

Ottawa, April 8.—Formal representations to the United States Government with respect to the I'm Alone incident, probably will be made by Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister at Washington, today or tomorrow. This was stated in the House of Commons this afternoon by Premier King.

Mr. King stated a number of communications had been sent from Ottawa to Mr. Massey with regard to the I'm Alone, the last of which went today.

The Prime Minister made this brief statement in answer to a question by Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, who asked if a formal note had been dispatched to the Washington Government, dealing with the I'm Alone, and if so, if a reply had been received. He asked the question, said Mr. Bennett, because of the uncertainty created by news dispatches, some of which stated a formal note had been sent while others said that was not the case.

Since the death last month of John Howard, who had been Agent-General for Nova Scotia in London for thirty-six years, his daughter, Miss Iris Howard, has been carrying on the duties of office.

Police Are Hunting Kootenay Murderer

Nelson, April 8.—Thomas Midgley, Kootenay Plains rancher, mysteriously murdered early last week, died at the hands of some person unknown, who probably had a grudge against him. A general pioneer stock rancher, it is believed. While four Provincial Police officers, headed by Inspector Dunwoodie, are working on the case, few clues have yet presented themselves, and it may be some days before the mystery is solved.

COMMONS IS EXPECTED TO VOTE ON BUDGET TO-MORROW

Ottawa, April 8.—Parliament, in its rapid advance toward an early prorogation, faces a week of great activity. Tomorrow the debate on the budget is expected to be concluded in the Commons. On the morning of the same day there will be agricultural committee discussion, expected to be lively, of the administration of the Canada Grain Act and the proposal to prevent the mixing of grain for export in Canadian elevators.

For the remainder of the week, Government legislation will have the right of way in the Commons, while the Senate will re-assemble Tuesday evening for the first time since the recess.

VOTE IS NEAR

Discussion of the annual financial statement of the Government, which probably will be concluded in the Commons by Hon. J. A. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, will not speak. The House will then divide on the question of the Conservative amendment and the U.F.A. substitute amendment.

J. H. GILLESPIE, BUSINESS HEAD, DIES SUDDENLY

Was Second in Command of 16th Canadian Scottish; Had Wide Connections

Served Overseas With 14th Brigade, C.F.A.; Was Noted as Sportsman

After just one week's illness, Major J. Herben Gillespie, head of the financial house of Gillespie, Hart & Todd, died unexpectedly at 9 o'clock last night at his home, 1968 Fairfield Road.

Native son, business leader, keen sportsman, active in returned soldiers and military affairs and participant in public issues, Major Gillespie played an important part in the life of Victoria for the last quarter of a century.

He was active at his office until a week ago when he was forced to take to bed with what was considered a not very serious illness, but which developed an infection which poisoned his whole system and brought death to members of his family at the end of last week.

SUN FOLLOWING GOVERNOR WHILE IT SNOWS HERE

Lord Willingdon and Party Enjoy Perfect Weather on West Coast

Most of the sunshine of the Pacific Northwest Coast seems to be concentrated upon the Governor-General's party now touring the western coast of Vancouver Island on the Ss. Surah.

According to radio advices received by F. Napier Denison, Dominion meteorologist, the Surah is bathed in sunshine, which extends from Estevan northward to Prince Rupert.

Governor-General and Viscountess Willingdon are enjoying the best which the weather portfolio of the Northwest has to offer. The Surah is steaming northward in a calm atmosphere, suffused with golden sunshine, the weather man announced with satisfaction.

In Victoria early this morning there was a light snowfall, which changed to nearly five inches of hail in Esquimalt. Northward from Cedar Hill the snowfall increased in intensity, and a blanket of white greeted early risers.

Victoria was lucky, in comparison with Vancouver, where a snowfall of three inches was reported at dawn into an ocean of slush. Delegates to the International Conference of the National Council of Education, which resumed sessions in Vancouver this morning, mourned the loss of the bright days with which the proceedings had opened in Victoria.

Quesnel-Prince George P.G.E. Survey Is Started

Vancouver, April 8.—A Victoria special dispatch to the Vancouver Daily Province to-day says:

"J. Caloghan, Deputy Minister of Railways of Alberta, to-day was appointed to find a route for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from Quesnel or a point to the south of it to Prince George. Mr. Caloghan will take a party of surveyors and engineers to the present terminus of the railway, immediately to launch the first stage of the Government's comprehensive P.G.E. survey."

"The Alberta official was appointed because he is not only a recognized expert on railway matters, but because he was in charge of location surveys in the Quesnel and Prince George districts when the P.G.E. was built."

With the appointment of Mr. Caloghan to undertake these important duties, it became known the route originally selected for the Prince George extension of the P.G.E. in all probability will be greatly altered. It is quite possible, too, that the railway may be diverted from its present route south of Quesnel.

When the P.G.E. was built into the Quesnel district, it was a route further east of that selected, in order to avoid serious engineering difficulties. Under his plan Quesnel would have been entered by a spur. If such an arrangement is adopted as a result of the present surveys, the existing line into Quesnel could be used to serve that place adequately as a branch, and the main line would be some miles east.

PEACE RIVER OUTLET

"While sending Mr. Caloghan into the Quesnel district immediately Hon. F. D. Burden, Acting Minister of Railways, is maturing plans for surveys of the country between Prince George and the Peace River district, where the Government expects the P.G.E. to be built ultimately. Parties of surveyors will go there and into the P.G.E. land grant areas to ascertain their value about May 1."

PEACE SPEECH BY LAPOINTE

Minister of Justice, Addressing Commons, Commends Kellogg Treaty

Ottawa, April 8.—The debate on the Kellogg Treaty, which, he said, was of a very high order and indicated unanimity in favor of peace. There was a new international consciousness in the world, determined to prevent wars and this had given birth to the Kellogg pact and other instruments intended to promote peace.

The League of Nations, in an effort to discover the chief causes of conflict between nations, had, in September, 1928, adopted a resolution to investigate economic difficulties, which stood in the way of general prosperity. A preparatory committee had organized an international economic conference. This conference had sat from May 3 till May 23, 1927. There were 94 deputies and 226 economic experts, representing fifty states.

The report of the conference gave the conclusion that international conditions would improve by increasing the movement of trade and the removal of trade barriers, said Mr. Lapointe.

COMMUTERS NOT CANADIAN-BORN NEED U.S. CARDS

Supreme Court at Washington Rules Naturalized Canadians Must Have Unexpired Immigration Visas to Cross Border Daily to Work in U.S.

Washington, April 8.—The United States Supreme Court to-day ruled that naturalized Canadians, and other quota immigrants were prohibited from crossing the border to work or search for employment in the United States without presenting unexpired consular immigration visas.

Naturalized Canadians were declared not entitled under the Jay Treaty of 1794 to cross the border freely regardless of immigration restrictions. The controversy did not involve the status of native-born Canadians, who are exempt from the quota provisions.

The republic's highest court held that naturalized Canadians, as distinguished from native-born, were excluded under the immigration laws from freely crossing the border in search of employment or to work upon the presentation of identification cards, but were required to present unexpired consular immigration visas.

MORRISON IS CHIEF JUSTICE SUPREME COURT

Well-known Jurist Succeeds to Position Held By Late Hon. Gordon Hunter

A. I. Fisher, K.C., Fernie, Will Fill Vacancy in Supreme Court

Ottawa dispatches received in the city this morning conveyed word of the appointment of Mr. Justice A. Morrison to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court in this Province, to succeed the late Hon. Gordon Hunter.

Word was also received of the elevation of A. I. Fisher, K.C., of Fernie, to the bench, to fill the vacancy created by the appointment of the new Chief Justice in the Supreme Court.

DISTINGUISHED CAREER

Hon. Aubrey MacAulay Morrison is the son of the late Christopher Morrison, and was born at Baddeck, N.S., on June 15, 1863. He was educated at Baddeck, and also at Sydney and Picton Academies, and later at Balliol College, Oxford, where he took his LL.B. in 1888.

He practiced as a barrister in Nova Scotia, and came to British Columbia in 1890. He was made a King's Counsel and continued in practice at New Westminster. In September, 1904, he was elevated to the Supreme Court bench, and in 1906 became deputy judge in Admiralty.

Apart from the legal phase of his career, Mr. Justice Morrison has been a leader in public affairs, and was identified with many movements leading to the growth and development of communities on the Pacific Coast. In later years he has acted on a number of Royal Commissions on important subjects, and up to the time of the death of the late Hon. Gordon Hunter, was next to the Chief Justice in point of seniority on the Supreme Court bench.

WELL KNOWN IN FERNIE

Alexander Ingram Fisher, K.C., is a well-known barrister of Fernie, B.C., and was elected to the Legislative Assembly of the Province in 1916. Before that he contested a seat in the Provincial House in 1909, as Liberal candidate for Fernie.

BIG CAMPAIGN ON IN BRITAIN

Liberal General Election Speakers First in Field; Other Parties Complete Plans

London, April 8.—Campaigns for the British Parliamentary general election late in May were launched in earnest today by all three of the major political parties.

For the next few weeks Great Britain will be flooded with campaign literature and will ring with political oratory. Every means of human communication, from the radio to penny pamphlets, is to carry the messages of the Liberals, Laborites and Conservatives to an expectant British electorate.

Nearly 1,700, candidates for the House of Commons to-day intensified their efforts to win the election.

LIBERALS LEAD THE WAY

The Liberals were the first to get the party to announce their full platform, redoubled their efforts by inaugurating a great vote-getting campaign, "from Land's End to John O'Groats," raising the Liberal battlecry: "We can conquer unemployment."

HEAVY RAINS RAISE FLOODS IN ONTARIO

With Eight Deaths and Big Losses Recorded, Storms Continue

Toronto, April 8.—With rain falling in many districts of southern Ontario again today and thunderstorms predicted in some localities, the situation brought about by a diversity of weather conditions during the last week continues to cause grave apprehension. Early reports indicate the toll of lives through storm and flood remains at eight, but in some quarters the figure of 10,000,000 set as the property damage over the week-end is believed to be conservative in view of the widespread destruction.

Throughout the country innumerable bridges have been washed away by rivers surging at highest levels in years. Scores of washouts have disrupted railway services, telegraph and telephone communication has been seriously interfered with, while damage through flooded basements in factories and houses has been general in the affected areas.

EINSTEIN NOT IN DISCUSSION WITH CARDINAL

Boston, April 8.—Cardinal William O'Connell, dean of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in the United States, believes that behind the Einstein theory of space and time there lurks the "hastily apparition of atheism."

The cardinal so expressed himself yesterday in a communion breakfast address before the New England province of Catholic Clubs of America, in which he stressed the necessity of religious faith, and assailed the "pseudo-intellectuals."

Berlin, April 8.—Professor Albert Einstein today said Cardinal O'Connell's assertion that his theories of space and time had behind them the "hastily apparition of atheism" left him cold and unimpressed.

He said he was wholly disinclined to enter into a controversy with the cardinal.

No Success Yet in Search in Wilds of Northwestern Australia

Sydney, Aus., April 8 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—Continued efforts are being put forth to find Captain Kingsford-Smith, Lieut. Charles T. Line and their two companions, who are believed to have made a forced landing in the Northwestern Australia, wilds on a flight to England. To-day Captain Holden arrived at Newcastle Waters in the Northern Territory in a De Havilland plane. That point is about 400 miles from Wyndham, where the missing fliers were expected to land on completion of the first leg of their flight from Sydney.

Lieut. Keith Anderson, who set out this morning to look for the missing airmen, arrived at Broken Hill. It was ascertained the missing plane passed over Port George March 31. An extensive search by a number of land parties has now been begun.

Hoover Commission Names Inspector Parsons to Give Expert Advice

Provincial Police Officer Asked to Explain Law Enforcement Methods

Inspector T. W. S. Parsons of the provincial police, has been selected to advise President Hoover's new United States Crime Commission, according to advices received here to-day.

Inspector Parsons, it was stated at the headquarters of the commission in New York, was chosen to advise that body on methods of law enforcement used in England and Canada. The Victoria officer is familiar with police systems not only in America, but in many European and Oriental countries.

While Inspector Parsons has not been advised officially of the honor bestowed upon him by the Crime Commission by its invitation, it is presumed he will be notified in due course.

NEW BODY FORMED

To be known as the committee on the detection and prosecution of crime, a new body has been organized by Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war and now head of the National Crime Commission, it was stated.

The committee will be under the direction of J. Weston Allen, former attorney-general of Massachusetts and author of the model criminal code, which he drafted at the request of the late Governor Hadley of Massachusetts.

MAKING SHORT

In making the announcement, Mr. Baker said:

"There is a feeling that our whole system of detecting and apprehending criminals falls short of efficiency. This new committee will study the situation and obtain the advice of those best qualified to suggest steps to be taken to improve our police systems generally. While the problem as it relates to our larger cities has received the greatest public attention, it is the feeling of the commission that the rural constabulary is in even greater need of overhauling. The appointment of this committee is an indirect result of the study made by Governor Lowden's committee."

TECH RESOURCES

Mr. Baker also said as his opinion that the full resources of each state can be placed at the command of those entrusted with police duties in the rural districts. The means is to be one of the problems discussed.

Berlin, April 8.—It was revealed only yesterday that President Paul von Hindenburg is ill. He has been suffering with influenza and gastric complications. Apprehension was caused because of his advanced age, eighty-one and a half years, but to-day he was said to be out of danger.

The President has not yet been allowed to go out of doors. It was considered advisable to withhold the news from the public to prevent general anxiety and it was possible to do so since the President was able to attend to important state affairs from his sick bed.

Sir John Simon and the other members of the commission were due in Bombay at about that time.

Sir John, whose leadership of the commission on Indian Statutory Reforms has excited considerable opposition in India, was seated in the assembly chamber at the time of to-day's attack with V. J. Patel, it was understood here. He was not hurt.

India has witnessed a strong Nationalistic movement in recent years, with intrusion of communistic ideas.

CANADA'S I'M ALONE NOTE SENT TO WASHINGTON

Washington, April 8.—Formal representations on the sinking of the schooner I'm Alone by a United States coastguard cutter in the Gulf of Mexico have been received from Ottawa by the Canadian legation for presentation to the United States Department.

Except for the brief announcement by Premier King of Canada that the sinking of the vessel, which was of Canadian registry, would be the subject of formal discussions between the two governments, the United States Government, both Ottawa and the legation, have been very reticent regarding the contents of the note.

Unofficial views of the matter, however, are to the effect that the Canadians are more interested in the points at issue between the two governments over the anti-rum smuggling treaty of 1924 between the United States and Great Britain, which Canada observes, than they are over the actual sinking.

DIFFERENCES IN SCHOOLS ARE DEBATED

Canadian Delegates at Education Conference in Vancouver Hear British Inspector

Vancouver, April 8.—Canadian education department officials from the various provinces will require a great deal of leisure to think over what they learned "about the British Government's educational system or lack of system" at a conference in the Hotel Vancouver this forenoon. H. M. Richards, chief inspector of the British Board of Education took the time to stand and subvert himself to examination and cross-examination by the Canadians with Hon. Joshua Ritchie, British Columbia Minister of Education, as chairman.

It was the first of the official speeches held in Vancouver in connection with the International Conference on Education and Teachers. According to H. Richards, the British Board of Education does inspect schools in its own way but is coming to the conclusion the time is past when this is necessary. The work of individual teachers is not inspected at all in a routine way.

"Files of teachers' records are not kept and if one local authority wishes to employ a teacher who has worked for other districts, the principle of 'caveat emptor' according to Mr. Richards.

The British Board of Education, he stated, is not a body of education, but a body of schools, and satisfies itself in its own way the schools as entities are good schools, its reliance for this information rests primarily upon the headmasters, who in the elementary schools at any rate are professional men.

No curricula of syllabus for the instruction of the educational system is laid down by the central authority.

TEACH THREE R'S

"There is great theoretical liberty," he said, "actually, of course, they have to teach the Three R's, you know."

In a smiling, offhand way, Mr. Richards submitted to a rigorous cross-examination at the hands of the inspectors for the various provincial governments, who are accustomed to strict supervision and dictation from central authority to the end of maintaining standard and uniformity, and they are frankly puzzled as how this result is achieved in England.

The delegates to the conference were entertained at a civic luncheon in the Hotel Vancouver at noon.

WAS CHAIRMAN

John Hart, of Vancouver, one of the delegates present in the first afternoon session, was informed over the telephone of Major Gillespie's death last night and crossed to Victoria on the midnight boat.

The late Major Gillespie was the eldest son of the late George Gillespie, one of the coast's pioneer bankers, and Mrs. Gillespie. He was born in Victoria in 1879 and went to school at Lorette School, Musselburgh, Scotland. About twenty years ago with Mr. Hart and E. D. Todd, of Victoria, he founded the financial firm which bears their names and has offices in Victoria and Vancouver.

Before the war Major Gillespie was active in military affairs here, being paymaster of the 50th Gordon Highlanders. Previous to that he played a prominent part in the affairs of the 1st Fifth Regiment. He was over 50 as one of the headquarters staff of the 15th Brigade Artillery under Col. A. T. Ogilvie. He was service in France with the 14th Brigade. Since the war he was constantly active in returned soldiers' organizations, and for the last year had been president of the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion. Up until the time of his illness, he was one of the leaders in the affairs of the No. 6 Company, Fourteenth of Canada, he was also president of the 14th Overseas Brigade Association.

With the rank of major, he was second in command of the 16th Canadian Battalion.

From his earliest days here, he was closely associated with sports, being member of the Victoria cricket team for years and one time captain. He also played rugby for many years and of recent years there were few rugby games in Victoria at which Major Gillespie was not conspicuous as one of the most keenly interested on the sidelines.

For a time he sat in the City Council as alderman and took a lead in putting through a pay-as-you-go policy for the city. In the December, 1920, provincial election he ran as an independent Conservative candidate for Victoria.

His business associations were very wide. Besides being the senior partner in the firm of Gillespie, Hart & Todd, he was president of the Victoria Board of Trade, president of the Victoria Stock Exchange, president of the Victoria Bond Dealers' Association, president of the Growers' Wine Council, president of the Terminus Mines, director of the Durable Mat Company, director of the B. C. Worsted Mills Ltd., and a past director of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

He was married, six brothers and three sisters.

Alex. Gillespie of East Sooke; Kenneth Gillespie, of Cowichan Lake; Donald Gillespie, of Victoria; Ronald Gillespie, of Shanghai, China; and Sholto Gillespie, also of Shanghai. His sister, Florence, is at present in Italy.

The funeral will be full military under the 16th Canadian Scottish and will be held at 2:30 o'clock from St. John's Church on Wednesday afternoon.

The full force falling on the counties of Grey, Bruce and Simcoe, but Wellington, Waterloo, York and Peel also suffered severely.

Toronto, April 8.—After the worst series of April storms on record in the southern district of Ontario, the citizens counted the damage to-day and worked to restore essential services.

The storm left in its wake a toll of eight known dead, damage estimated at more than $1,000,000, disrupted rail and highway traffic and isolated communities.

The list of victims reported: Jack Burgham, Stratford, drowned when his boat capsized in the flood swollen Maitland River. Walter Winthrop and Helen Wright, Peterboro, drowned when their auto went through a washed-out bridge at Harmony. Jack Miller, Scarborough, drowned when his truck went through a bridge spanning the Rouge River. Orton Cooke, Barrie, drowned when a dam collapsed. Henry Taylor, Walkerton, drowned in the Sauguen River. J. Kennedy, Toronto, and Robert Kennedy, Toronto, drowned when their auto went through a bridge spanning the Credit River.

On the Algandale division of the Canadian National Railways there were twenty-two washouts. Stratford and Belleville subdivisions were hard hit. Altogether on both lines more than fifty washouts are reported.

Bridges swept away out off highways. Damage on the Kingston Road has isolated the whole of eastern Ontario from Toronto by road.

DISOBEDIENCE AMONG SEAMEN CHARGED HERE

A plea of not guilty was entered through P. J. Sinnott, counsel for the accused, and the case was adjourned until 3 p.m. to-day.

Mr. Sinnott asked for a remand until later in the week in order to secure evidence for the defence.

Appearing for the owners of the ship, A. A. Smart requested that the case be settled at once as it had already been delayed two days owing to the alleged actions of the accused.

C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, pointed out that the ship was seventy miles out when forced to return. Steam was running low and the ship would have been in a dangerous condition if it had not both put back to port. It would be the allegation of the prosecution that this was the result of the actions of the men.

LIFE-SAVING FACILITIES

The defence would claim that the accused had taken their stand because the ship was not properly equipped with life-saving facilities. Mr. Sinnott stated. It might be necessary to secure port authorities as witnesses, he added, asking for a longer remand.

"My information is that the men asked certain lights be put up on the ship," Mr. Harrison replied.

The magistrate ordered the case be resumed at 3 o'clock.

The Canadian Seignior left here shortly after 11 o'clock Saturday night and arrived back in port yesterday afternoon.

DIPLOMATS ATTEND POPE'S FIRST COURT IN VATICAN

LEAD IN SURGERY NOW HELD ON THIS SIDE OF ATLANTIC

Latest Vienna "Discovery" Tested By Mayos Five Years Ago

Toronto, April 5.—A doctor must be an electrician nowadays, according to Dr. Fletcher B. Sharp, well-known specialist, and Toronto's pioneer in matters of the electric current in the branches of the profession other than surgery. The rapid advancement in this field of remedial endeavor is illustrated by the treatment of the King by electro-therapy during his recent illness.

Toronto men no longer need go to Palm Beach to acquire that outdoor complexion associated with opulent shores. All they have to do is visit a specialist and undergo electro-therapy, treatment under the rays of a sun lamp.

This information was forthcoming when a reporter called upon Dr. Sharp in connection with the announcement of the "discovery" by the continental specialist, Dr. Karl Rutter of Vienna, of a method to perform operations without the use of the knife.

Dr. Sharp denied the remedial value of the method. But the array of machines in his operating rooms, among which the sun lamp holds a very minor place, made an impression. All the fascination and mystery of modern medical science was there. High frequency, Fischer electro-therapy machines, flickered with all the hues of "blues," X-ray, violet ray, reds and greens, in twinkling profusion—ventures of health for some thirty patients treated daily.

The twentieth century belongs to America in surgery as in many other matters, according to Dr. Sharp. "Europe does not lead in anything now," he remarked. "When this Vienna savant announces that he has performed operations in his clinic in which an electrode supplants the surgeon's knife he is simply expounding the theory of the 'radio knife' which was tried out in America as long as five years ago and found unsatisfactory."

It was explained that the "radio knife," while most satisfactory in theory, had not been productive of its high promise in practical practice. The Mayo Brothers experimented with it and halted it as a remarkable advance in the realm of surgery when it was first announced, said Dr. Sharp. When inactive, an electrode in the form of a leaden plate was attached to the patient's arm and an operating needle or knife was used to project the electric current into the tissue. As it was slowly thrust forward, the flesh parted, the abundance in the blood coagulating and forming a white crust along the incision. It was thought that this method would be of incalculable value in thyroid or other operations, but experiment proved that there was too much sloughing and the wound would not heal. While there was no burning of tissue in some way the flesh was devitalized and proper healing prevented.

One of the most potential discoveries of modern times is being experimented with by the General Electric Company, said Dr. Sharp. It is a further application of the modern system of high frequency at present of such great benefit in diathermic treatment. "Diathermic methods are now of some 20,000 alternations per second," he continued, "but this new modality of high frequency is more than 1,000,000 alternations per second. The company refuses to put out a machine until they have perfected its application, because of the unfortunate result when they released the X-ray before the proper period of experimentation had elapsed. I believe that the new method is one of the most important ever discovered."

Dr. Sharp declared that the surgical profession had only begun to feel the beneficial resources of electricity as applied to the human body.

NEW YORK POLICE SEEKING TO SOLVE MURDER MYSTERY

New York, April 5.—The body of a young woman, believed by police to have been strangled to death, was found yesterday in a stolen automobile parked on a mid-town street here. The clothing was torn, the face scratched and the throat bruised.

The body was tentatively identified from a letter and from a description given by a landlady as that of Mrs. Linda Beggs, of 110 West Sixty-fourth Street. The letter found on the body was addressed to Mrs. Beggs and said insurance policies she had applied for were ready for delivery.

The landlady at the Sixty-fourth Street address told the police the description they gave here of the body fitted that of Mrs. Beggs who had lived at her place during February. She told them the husband and wife had both become ill while at her house and that he was taken to a city hospital and Mrs. Beggs to a home in White Plains. She did not know what had become of them since.

The former owner of the Sixty-fourth Street house said the Beggs had lived at the house last Summer. Beggs she said, went to Chicago during the Summer to visit a son by a former marriage and Mrs. Beggs took a job as a maid in a downtown hotel. She also had no knowledge of the couple's movements during the last two months.

The car in which the body was found was stolen from a Riverside Drive address about 3 o'clock yesterday morning and police from information gained from residents of the neighborhood where it was found, said it was parked there not more than half an hour later.

MAN ENDS SON'S AND HIS OWN LIFE

Vancouver, April 8.—Huddled on the floor of his room, under a pile of blankets, a rubber tube leading from the ear service pipe still clutched in the stiffened fingers, the body of John Dutton, 201—Hedden Street, was found at 11:45 a.m. Sunday. He had been asphyxiated by illuminating gas. A 12-foot away in his bed, the body of Teddy, Mr. Dutton's nine-year-old son lay.

The double tragedy was revealed to Leonard and Charles Hovey of 809 "Timken Street, who made the discovery after they had battered down Dutton's door. They were led to the room by the smell of escaping gas and when their repeated knocking received no response they hammered in the door and discovered the bodies.

Police were immediately notified and a physician was summoned. The detectives found every crack outlet in the room had been plugged with rags and paper, even the air vents around the stovepipe being stopped with cork-wool in water.

Police believe, from papers found in the room, that Dutton took his own life and his son's as a result of despondency over domestic troubles. Little is known about the tragedy victim as Dutton rented his room on April 3, having three months in advance. He was an employee of the Robertson-Hackett Lumber Company and only recently had received a testimonial for good work and long service from the firm.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN BAY

Oakland, Cal., April 8.—The body of a richly dressed woman, about sixty years old, was found in the Oakland estuary yesterday. It showed no marks of violence and apparently had been in the water for about twelve hours. There were but two meagre clues of identification, a plain gold wedding ring with the legend "F. L. 10-28-86" inside the band. The initials were so worn that they might be considered a "Y." The second clue was the name of the Starr Shoe Company, Los Angeles, on a pair of black satin slippers. All laundry marks and labels on the dress and coat had been carefully removed. Police inclined to the belief the woman had left her home in the south to commit suicide and conceal her identity.

The body was dressed in a black satin dress of expensive design, a well-tailored black broadcloth coat with black fur trim and a gray chiffon hood. She wore a black and white striped stockings and black shoes.

FIRE IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, April 8.—A fire which broke out in the draw tower of the Connaught Bridge here at 2:30 a.m. yesterday is believed to be the effect of lightning. The motors of the draw mechanism were fused and burned out by the lightning. Fire bells 4, 2 and 3 responded, and soon had the bridge under control.

MURDER AND SUICIDE

Quebec, April 8.—After fatally wounding his eighteen-year-old daughter, Gladia, with a revolver, George Golaneck, forty-nine, widower, and father of twelve children, committed suicide with the same weapon in the family home here late Saturday afternoon. The daughter, who did not live at home, was visiting her family when the shooting was done. According to the police, Golaneck had been eating more than $2,000. His associates denounced after the death of his wife two months ago.

GAMBLING CHARGE

Vancouver, April 8.—Ivar Varentus, 1815 Eighth Avenue West, recently arrived in Vancouver, thought he could play Blackjack. A test of his skill and luck early Sunday cost him over $6,500, he told police when he laid charges against his erstwhile companions-in-play. Varentus complained of $600 in cash and cheques, agreeing to play, picked up by police, were held for investigation.

Fair Weather Aids Recovery of King

Bognor, Sussex, Eng., April 8 (Canadian Press Cable).—As yet it apparently has not been determined what the trouble in the left shoulder is from which King George is suffering. It would appear, however, to be either rheumatism or neuritis. There has been improvement in the condition in the last week.

His Majesty had a good week-end and the south coast was favored with fair weather.

Gandhi Finds Some Of His Followers Weak

Bombay, India, April 8 (Canadian Press Cable).—"My shame and sorrow" is the title given by Mahatma Gandhi, Nationalist leader and mystic, to a signed article in his vernacular weekly paper, "Navan Javan," in which he tells the world of the moral lapses of some of his followers who are inmates in his institution at Ahmedabad, "Satyagraha Ashram."

Gandhi takes the blame for the small number of his followers who are inmates in the case of his cousin who "committed petty larcenies," that of his own wife, who "despite her vow of renunciation of private property was twice discovered in possession of small private funds amounting to between 200 and 400 rupees, and other cases."

"This institution is my best creation," Gandhi writes in concluding his article, "I hope to see God through its aid. Such revelations as these put me on my guard. They humble me, but they do not shake my faith in it."

WISCONSIN AREA SWEEP BY STORM

Darlington, Wis., April 8.—Two persons were injured, buildings on three farms were completely demolished, homes and barns on more than fifty other farms were wrecked, and at least 100 head of cattle were killed by a tornado which struck northwestern Lafayette County and northeastern Greene County Saturday night. Herbert Emerson, one of the persons injured, told of how he had been picked up by the wind from his barnyard here and carried nearly half a mile before he was dropped to the ground, breaking several ribs.

The force of the wind was spent over a distance of about twenty miles.

TAGORE'S MESSAGE

AMONG THE MANY STRIKING
passages in the message of Sir Rabindranath Tagore on Saturday, the following appears to sum up his diagnosis of the weakness
of modern progress:

"Invention, construction and organization
are spreading fast along the highroad of our history, but the creative genius of man is every day losing its dignity. It accepts cheap payments from the busy multitude, it is engaged in always keeping irreverent minds amused, it makes faces at things men hold sacred and tries to prove that the ideals of social life which have given us race, the majesty of self-mastery and heroism of voluntary acceptance of suffering were most part unreal, false coins made current by the weak
for the pathetic purpose of self-deception.
Compressed and crowded time has its use
when dealing with material things, but living truths must have for their significance a full accommodation of leisure. The cramped time produces deformities and degeneracy, and the mind—constantly pursued by a frenzied haste develops a chronic dyspepsia."

While there is a great deal of truth in this indictment of modern creative genius, there are enough striking exceptions to justify a hopeful outlook for the world. If much of that genius is being employed unworthily, much of it also is being dedicated to the loftiest purposes. In many directions science and research are improving the welfare of humanity without regard to material profit. Every day we find, somewhere, examples of splendid sacrifice in the cause of the great principle of which the illustrious Indian poet is so eloquent an advocate.
Never in the history of the world has the spirit of philanthropy been more manifest than it is to-day. If much of the material wealth which springs from the creative genius and mental resources of mankind is being squandered, much also is being devoted to man's spiritual and intellectual betterment. There is, therefore, a silver lining to every cloud that the poet sees on humanity's horizon. The world is still moving upward. Hope "still sees a star and listening love can hear the echo of a wing."

There are limitations, too, imposed by Nature upon man's opportunities for the cultivation of a beneficent leisure. This is especially true in young countries like Canada and Australia. In them a large number of people are engaged in a battle with natural conditions, overcoming physical and climatic obstacles in establishing their homes. It is difficult for the pioneer who is carving a little settlement out of the wilderness to apportion any of his time to the pursuit of thousands engaged in the development of the resources Nature has placed before them to cultivate the arts and sciences, or to meditate upon anything else than the problems which confront them from day to day.

Man must live first before he can hope to live well. Countless millions in India find it difficult to live at all. Incidentally, the use of leisure in a general sense cannot be standardized.
Some people must have physical recreation after their working hours to enable them to keep fit for the serious affairs of life. Others require some other form of diversion. Indeed, exercise in a bowling alley might be more useful to some people in their time of leisure than anything else. Even the motion picture comedy, by acting as a mental stimulant, might be more helpful to many superior natures than a peaceful contemplation of the moon and stars.

FARM AND CITY

WE HEAR MUCH ABOUT THE
drift from the farms to the cities and the desirability of maintaining an adequate balance
of population between rural and urban centres.
In this connection we are told by the United States Department of Agriculture that the farm population of the republic has dwindled in the last twenty years from 32,000,000 to 27,511,000,
in spite of the fact that the population of the country as a whole has increased more than thirty per cent.

Beyond doubt the lure of the city has become stronger year by year, while rural delivery,
the flivver and the radio have failed in the battle to keep the boys on the farm. "Nor,"
says The Boston Herald, "is there any sign
in the industrial or agricultural skies to indicate a turn of the tide." Last year, for example, 1,960,000 people abandoned farm life, while but 1,362,000 quit the city for the farm, leaving an agricultural loss of approximately 600,000. And this loss, says the Department of Agriculture, was further cut down by the high birth-rate and low death-rate on the farms,
so that the net decrease was only 168,000
persons.

There was a time, and not so long ago, it is pointed out, when such a drop would have been regarded as threatening the business and agricultural prosperity of the country. But the farms of the neighboring republic, economists declare, to-day could lose a few additional millions and still produce more than enough foodstuffs for the country.

We may be some distance from the ultimate
with which city life will continue to attract young men and young women from the rural districts. The day may come, however, when the noise and bustle of the modern city will drive all but those with nerves of steel back to the comparative solitude and amplexes
of the open spaces.

THE REPARATIONS TANGLE

ALTHOUGH THEY HAVE BEEN
in almost continuous session for the last two months, the international reparations experts began the ninth week of their deliberations this morning with what a dispatch from Paris describes as anything but favorable auspices for the success of their labor. France is reluctant to reduce her demands, which are represented by a much larger sum than her allies propose, while Germany, naturally, is trying to take all the advantage she can.

There is a strange irony in the situation which has developed over the whole reparations question. The principal business of the allies—
with, of course, the exception of France—now seems to be to find a way of cutting down Germany's bill to a figure they think the debtor
nation should be able to pay, which, in turn,
must not exceed an amount they are able to accept without suffering certain economic consequences that never were thought of when the original demands were made. While this is going on Germany is playing the role of an attentive listener, making no offers herself, but demanding reductions as each successive allied offer is presented to her.

For long it has been obvious that the war simply cannot be paid for. We have been told by the Agent-General of Reparations that Germany has sufficient resources to enable her to meet the payments prescribed by the Dawes plan. She has replied that were she to continue these annuities, she soon would be bankrupt. After a reduction of $180,000,000 had been made, she had no more hope of making the payments. This is the situation with which the experts are confronted. If there is any humor in it, the Germans should be able to see it.

YOUTH IS SOUND TO-DAY

FROM TIME TO TIME SOMEBODY
deplores the manner in which the rising generation is conducting itself; there is very little right with it, according to some opinions.
But we get many reminders to the contrary.
Here is a paragraph from a well-known London
daily:

Extraordinary determination while enduring agony was shown by a sixteen-year-old messenger boy, W. Smith of Dagenham, attached to the Leadenhall Street branch of the Eastern Telegraph Company.

He had delivered a cablegram in a building
in Leadenhall Street, and was seen to be holding his hand and showing signs of great pain.
All he would tell questioners was that he had hurt his hand in the lift gates of a building, and,
although it was obvious that the wrist was very severely cut, he had persisted in delivering another cablegram which he had in his bag.

This he succeeded in doing, but he had to be helped along the street. Having accomplished his task, he allowed himself to be taken to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, where his right hand was amputated.

Our Canadian boys and girls are made of the same kind of stuff. And if those who are pessimistic over the future of the race would take the trouble to look around them, they soon
would realize that there is very little the matter
with the youth of to-day.

OUR NATURAL RESOURCES

GOVERNMENT REPORTS AS A rule are not selected by the person in search of a little light reading; but a booklet
recently issued by the Department of the Interior at Ottawa entitled "Canada's Natural Resources" should be read by all Canadians who are interested in the economic growth of their country.

Making our resources known to the world is one of the most important forms of advertising which the Government undertakes. And it may not be too much to say that the widest range
of interests falling within the sphere of one organization pertains to the Department of the Interior, over which Hon. Charles Stewart presides. It is charged with the management of an area comprising considerably more than half of the Dominion. The Department also includes within its organization a series of specialized services, each of which is responsible for administering and promoting the development of one broad class of resource. In addition to the services administering lands, forests, mineral areas, water resources, park regions, and so on, the Department maintains the Natural Resources Intelligence Service, which, in cooperation with related Federal and provincial services, acts as a practical information bureau
for Canada's natural resources, tourist attractions and geography.

As a prelude to the directory of administrative units in the booklet to which we have referred, there is a brief series of sketches reviewing some of the main features of the resources of Canada's different political divisions. These, of course, are too brief to cover the whole field with respect to any province;
their purpose is merely to review a few of the distinctive, and not necessarily the most important, phases of the natural wealth of each region.

SKIRTS ON THE CAMPUS

The Bradford Examiner
Waterloo College, which has stood four square
units north against the admission of female students, has relented, and it is announced that
"the flutter of feminine skirt will soon be seen on the campus." If the co-eds there intend to wear them that long there will have to be some delving in mother's old wardrobe.

IN SAME CLASS AS OTTAWA

The Pembroke Standard-Observer
Those who drive automobiles have had sufficient reason this Spring to complain about the condition of our streets. The rut in the ice
have made driving both difficult and dangerous,
and beyond all argument those who own cars and pay their license fee are entitled to better accommodation.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, April 8, 1904

Weather Forecast—Victoria and Vicinity—Light to moderate winds, mostly northerly and easterly, generally fair and a little warmer.

A case of more than ordinary interest in being heard in Vancouver, involving as it does the rights of employers to combine against union strikers.

To-morrow evening a championship basketball game will be played between Victoria
West and Nanaimo teams at the Drill Hall.

The Port Townsend tug Sea Lion and Pioneer called at Clayquot this morning, and are reported to be in search of the wrecked
schooner Kallua.

Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Hall will arrive from Vancouver this evening on the steamer Charm.

A THOUGHT

Which of you, by taking thought, can add one runt to his stature?—St. Matthew 1:17
Thought—wonder, he compared with action,
but with it awakens in us the image of truth—
Mme. de Staël.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

MOUSEHOLE, CORNWALL

Locker-on in The Daily Chronicle (London)

I have often wondered what was the origin of the name of the Cornish village, Mousehole.
I never imagined it could be a corruption from another word. Yet its original name was, it seems, Mousel. That was what the village was called when the Spanish Armada sailed by and sent some cannon-balls ashore there. Now one of these cannon-balls has been dug up at Mouse-hole, and this has brought its original name to light.

A HUMANE ACTION

The Manchester Guardian

As far as the ordinary administration of criminal justice is concerned, it would be difficult to find a better Home Secretary than Sir William Joynt-Hicks. His decision to substitute borstal treatment for the sentence of three years' penal servitude passed ten days ago at the Hampshire Assizes on a boy of seventeen will win general approval. Kick-burning and officer-breaking are such serious offences that twenty years ago no
one would have questioned either the equity or the wisdom of Mr. Justice Rowlett's decision, but to-day it is generally realized that penal servitude for young offenders is an almost certain prelude to a life of crime.

THE SCIENCE OF LEISURE

The Morning Post (London)

As we announce to-day, an interesting conference of educationists from all parts of the Empire is being held in Vancouver to discuss the question of the right employment of leisure by the young. It is a big subject, and the investigation might not profitably be pursued
in relation to the adult as well as the adolescent;
for the right employment of leisure is "conduct,"
which, as Matthew Arnold declared, is three parts of life. The educationists are to approach the subject from a consideration of the bearing of hobbies and recreations on the well-being of the young. Their survey will cover the influence of literature, music, the drama, wireless and handicrafts—all interests which concern the adult even more than the adolescent. But there is one preliminary consideration which seems to have been overlooked, or taken for granted—the possession of the leisure for which right occupation is to be found. Nowadays the pressure of life is so high that not only is the margin of leisure that leaves caliginous and uncertain, but the theory
to employ it, except in the highest of diversions,
is lacking.

We look back to the beginning of the nineteenth century as a period of comparative ease—
free from all the exigencies which science has inflicted under the pretence of extending life
and comfort. And yet, before telegraph and train and motor and steamship, did not the poet exclaim that "the world is too much with us, late and soon?" And, fifty years later, was not another poet's petition to the Great Soul of All Things:

Calm, calm me now, nor let me die
Before I have begun to live.

If the educationists who are meeting in Victoria and Vancouver could discover some means of slackening the pace at which we live to-day,
they would achieve much indeed, not only for education but for humanity.

Other People's Views

Letters addressed to the Editor and intended for publication must be short and briefly written. The longer an article the more the Editor is obliged to cut it. Unless the writer wishes the publication
of his article to be a matter of course,
he should state in the margin of his communications submitted to the Editor.

GARBAGE COLLECTION

To the Editor—In Saturday's Times
I saw a letter signed by a Mr. Max Johnsen. Personally I consider the garbage collection in Victoria well handled by the city. I have no objection to garbage men, but the fault is more on the side of the householders themselves.
If any householder living in a five or six-roomed house can fill up his garbage can in three or four days,
there must be something more than the ashes from a furnace or cooking stove. I find my garbage can usually filled large to last two or three weeks.
I have suggested more than once in your paper that householders who put garbage refuse, paper and other such stuff that could be easily burnt in a furnace, are the people who should be charged for extra collection. It is the piece from St. John's Church, on collection trucks mean more taxes.

EXPERTS MAKE LITTLE HEADWAY
ON REPARATIONSFrench Newspapers Criticize
Course of Allied Delegates
at Paris Sessions

Paris, April 8.—The international reparations experts began the ninth
week of their deliberations here to-day
under anything but favorable auspices for success of their labor. In well-informed circles it was said, however,
they had not lost hope of arriving at a satisfactory settlement of the reparations problem.

Whatever the work that has been done, the situation remains about as it did two months ago at the start of the deliberations that have been marked by a series of French and Allied requests and what the Germans are prepared to offer has never been brought to the actual negotiations continued through in secrecy.

CRITICISM VOICED

The French newspapers the past
two days have been assailing Owen
D. Young and the other Allied delegates for making a list of the Allied claims, and presenting it to Dr.
Schacht. This criticism, apparently being predicated on knowledge that such had taken place. As a result, it was claimed, the Allies had been put in the position of defending their claims. Attention was called to the fact that the conference had been sought by the Germans who nevertheless, through the aid of Owen
D. Young and the other Allied delegates, had been listening to others, rather than making them.

On this assumption it was understood to-day that instead of making a definite offer, Dr. Schacht had demanded reductions in the claims of the Allies, regarding them simply as claims for reparations of war damages
and distinguished from the inter-allied debts.

Despite certain Allied concessions
there is said to be still a considerable gap between the positions of the two groups. Another plenary session in view of the situation is not expected for several days.

Report on Winnipeg
Death Is Awaited

Winnipeg, April 8.—Official silence exists at the death of Paul William Grimes Baker, twenty-year-old bank
clerk, whose body, with a bullet wound
in the head, was found Saturday in the Fort Rensselaire district here.
Coroner D. K. McCallum declined to state whether or not an inquest would be held.

Whether the body was discovered on railway tracks, on the outskirts of the city, two days ago, no information was made public until last night. It was expected more comprehensive details of the tragedy would be made public by officials to-day.

Son of the late George H. Baker, one-time president of the police magistracy in the city.

SPOKESMEN OF
SIX COUNTRIES
ARE WELCOMEDVisiting Educational Leaders Express Wonder at Canadian ProgressBaldwin Sends Greetings to Conference; Assembly Aids
Cause of Peace

A warm Provincial welcome was extended to the delegates attending the international Conference of the National Council of Education on Saturday afternoon by Attorney-General
R. H. Pooley, Acting Premier, at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Pooley pointed out that the Western material view of education may learn much from the philosophy of the East, while the East gains from closer knowledge of Western development of natural resources.

Touching upon Victoria as a central meeting place of the nations of the world, Mr. Pooley hoped that the delegates to the conference would visit the logging and other major industries of British Columbia. He was sure they would enjoy the scenic beauties of British Columbia, unequalled elsewhere.

The Acting Premier was sure that when the delegates viewed the large schools and colleges provided in British Columbia, they would realize that this Province had not neglected education.
"It is the heartfelt wish of the Provincial Government that you delegates will enjoy every moment of your stay in British Columbia," he said when proposing a toast to the guests.

Sir Aubrey Symonds, K.C.B., permanent secretary of the British Board of Education, remarked that the welcome accorded by Canadians had been more warm and generous than could have been expected. "My colleagues in London had twitted me with going on a joy trip, but they did not realize that Major 'Navy' he remarked amid laughter.

"Such conferences as this have a great educational value from the frank exchange of ideas. They have more fruits than the Empire in brotherhood and comradeship," Sir Aubrey pointed out. The journey across Canada had taught him the great achievements
and immeasurable possibilities of Canada, which he regretted he had not seen visited.

BALDWIN'S GREETINGS

The speaker presented to the conference a message from the Prime Minister, Sir Stanley Baldwin. Prime Minister of Great Britain. This message expressed the opinion that in bringing together leading men from many of the Empire and many foreign lands the National Council of Education was rendering a great service.
The Prime Minister wrote that education is the key to the future of the Empire and that it is a professional pursuit, but as a part of life itself. He recalled his recent visit to Canada and was tempted to envy those taking part in the conference that education is the key to the future of the Empire and that it is a professional pursuit, but as a part of life
itself.

A message from Lord Eustace Percy, British Minister of Education, was also presented by Sir Aubrey Symonds.
This conveyed sincere regrets that the prevalence of the general elections prevented his personal attendance at the conference, which was of the greatest importance.

TRIBUTE TO CITY

Comte Serge Fleury, of Paris, member of the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs, brought greetings from the conferential nations of Europe. He expressed in praise of the beauties of Victoria, the Count said France followed with interest and affection whatever Canada was doing. "Maine do not tell me everything, you must be able to tell me a marvelous link between England
and France, what a great asset for world
peace, Canada can be," he said.

FIRM LOYALTY

L. F. Rushbrook Williams, Foreign Minister of the independent state of Patania in India, pointed out that the Indian Chamber of Princes, which he represented at the conference, comprised more than 200 sovereigns who over 60,000,000 people, bound by indissoluble ties of loyalty to the King-Emperor and the Empire. While the apogee of Indian life presents the most striking contrast to the Western civilization, the Indians possessed a sterner side to their character. Twice had it been given to the Indian independence struggle to come to the assistance of the Empire in hours of dire need. In 1857 the Indian princes threw themselves into the fight, and they had, on the side of Empire, it was thanks to them,
and the gallant remnant of the British forces, that India was preserved to the Empire.

When the Great War broke out telegrams flooded the Indian Government from the princes, all being similar in terms: "What orders has the King-Emperor for me and my people?"
"It is in that spirit that India now sends representatives to this international conference. Problems are being worked out and India is ready to share of the burden of the aid of Western civilization that the Chamber of Princes
has sent me here," Williams explained
and rounds of applause.

NOT YET STARTED

George Jeffrey, representative of the Commonwealth of Australia, remarked that the people of Canada do not yet realize the prosperity to be experienced shortly. "Canada has not yet started,"
he considered.

He warned of the dangerous modern tendency towards materialism and saw an opportunity to do something to check this trend by instilling young people in the life of Christ.

T. Fukuma, Japanese Consul at Vancouver, specially instructed as delegate
of the Imperial Japanese Government, expressed the pleasure of Japan in being able to participate in the conference. He tendered apologies for the absence of Japanese educationists
and explained that as the yearly examinations are now in progress, no
leading university men could be spared to give a comprehensive review of the progress of education in Japan but today, the Empire and more than forty universities and 10,000 boys and girls of the school of a population of 60,000,000. This notable result had been achieved in thirty years.

Touching upon the work of the League of Nations, Mr. Fukuma said:
"There is no national boundary line
in the field of education, so I earnestly trust that the delegates to this conference will take forward step has been taken in the advancement of the peace of the world."

Crisis in Poland
Stirs Pilsudski
To Take Action

Warsaw, Poland, April 8.—Light is thrown on the reported Cabinet crisis
by a characteristic outburst in the Polish press from Marshal Pilsudski, denouncing the lower House of the Diet for impeaching former Finance Minister Czechowicz for exceeding expenditures authorized by the Diet and indicating the marshal's intention of taking the helm of government himself.

In an article running some two columns and couched in rough soldierly language, Pilsudski defends Czechowicz as the best Finance Minister the country ever had and possessing the enduring distinction of having straightened out a bad fiscal system which he took over in complete disorder. In a general denunciation of the Diet Marshal Pilsudski names
those individual members he considers chiefly responsible for attacks on the Government.

Pilsudski compares members of the Diet to malicious monkeys and says:
"One cannot expect honorable feelings from monkeys." Further referring to the tribunal which impeached Czechowicz
the marshal says: "Should I become Premier I declare openly the tribunal would dare to meet."

Makes Special Plans to Handle Extra LoadsIn co-operation with the Junior Chamber of Commerce the civic authorities will do their part towards making the annual clean-up week all that it should be. Beginning Monday,
April 15, until Saturday noon, April 20, the garbage department will respond to all calls for the removal of any accumulation of rubbish from residences and vacant lots, brush and garden debris excepted. The fire department will be glad to issue permits for burning. Rubbish must be put together and placed as easy of access as possible in order to facilitate removal.An extra flat crew will be placed alongside the wharf at the disposal of merchants and others who may have accumulated a collection of bulky material. This would especially apply to old auto bodies, these bodies, however, must have all the woodwork removed before being put on the screw.
The incinerator will be at the disposal of all who may wish to use it for the disposal of any burnable material which cannot be burned on the owner's premises. It is only necessary to send it down to the wharf, and put it in the burner. These services are free of all charge.The garbage department responded to 168 calls in 1928, in addition to which a great amount of waste material was hauled down to the screws by private parties. Included in the collections were several hundred kitchen boilers. The telephone number is 1614, and calls may be put in any time now.SaanichtonA well-attended meeting of the sident of the society, H. E. Tanner, was in the chair, and Nat Gray, the newly-appointed secretary, read the minutes of the last directors' meeting.Considerable time was spent in selecting the different committees for

the sixty-first annual fall exhibition,
which will be held on September 17
and 18, also in revising the prize list,
it being the wish of the directors to include all worthwhile classes suitable to a community.A committee was appointed to consider the advisability of having added attractions in the grounds, such as side-shows. Messrs. E. Macdonald and
A. Wright were appointed to arrange for an unloading platform in the cattle
section at the fair.The poultry committee was asked to bring in a report at the next meeting
for improvements required in the poultry shed. The sports committee will meet shortly to make arrangements for the school sports, which are always an attraction at the fair.Stewart-Stoddart was appointed as-

SURPRISE EGGS
Just before Easter, when using eggs for cooking, I broke a large egg in one end and with a heavy needle pushed a smaller one in the other end and let the contents run out. Then I colored the egg and filled it with small candies and trinkets and pasted a piece of colored paper over the opening. These eggs are usually the favorite eggs in the Easter egg hunt, and the child who finds the most of them is considered the lucky child. They call them their "Surprise Eggs."

READER OFFERS SUGGESTION

Mrs. A. E. R. writes:

"I wish you would pass this on to your readers because it cured my brother of bed wetting in two weeks. My mother put two inches of water (cold) in the bath tub and morning and night made the child walk back and forth in it for two minutes, the next night and morning two and one-half, and the next three. Each time, even in the face of strenuous opposition, the child was made to do this. Then the feet were rubbed good and hard with a warm towel."

ANSWER

This belongs in the class of powerful suggestions. It makes no difference whether the water is warm or cold, whether it is used two or five minutes, whether the feet are put into it, or it is rubbed down the spine (as it done in some large institutions), the thing that works is the suggestion. The child is told repeatedly, "This will keep you from wetting the bed," and this gives him just the encouragement that he can prevent wetting which is operative in about all of the cases, unless they are due to real physical causes.

It is the mother's discouragement with this habit which keeps it flourishing. "There, now, you wet the bed again, you awful boy! Aren't you ever going to be like other boys, and aren't you ashamed to do this night after night?" That is what she says to the child and he feels how terribly different he is from other children and how hopeless it is for him to try to be like them.

But to others, the mother says (and in his hearing), "He can't help it. I know he tries, but his kidneys are weak," and so the child really believes that he can't help it. He is different. Unless one has dealt much with children it is impossible to realize how powerful suggestions of every type are to them. The suggestion in any form that he can't help but wet the bed is sufficient to keep a child wetting it for years. The method of cure (in a child who really wants to help himself) need not be disagreeable water-wading, or anything external. The water-wading was also a powerful suggestion to this mother—that this method would help, and she was therefore able to make her suggestion to the child that much more convincing. But her verbal encouragement, even in the face of apparently nightly defeat, is just as helpful.

"You are better this week than last, aren't you? I don't think you wet as often during the night as last week. Next week you will be even better. Then each dry night should be a signal of visible victory. Very soon now you will never wet the bed," it wouldn't take over two weeks for this method to work just as well as any other method of suggestion. It remains for the mother to use this and use it convincingly.

Cumberland

It has been announced that Thomas Graham, formerly superintendent, and latterly consulting engineer of the Canadian Collieries (D) Limited, and the Western Fuel Corporation, is about to sever his connection with Cumberland and open an office in Victoria. In addition to retaining his connection with the Canadian Collieries as consulting engineer, Mr. Graham's ability will be at the disposal of the mining interests of the Province.

During his association with Cumberland and Mr. Graham has made many friends. He has been popular with employees of the company, and much regret is felt by his fellow citizens of Cumberland at his departure.

During his many years in the mining industry Mr. Graham has held a series of responsible positions. In 1904 he was appointed superintendent of the Western Fuel Company, and in 1912 relinquished the position to become Chief Inspector of Mines for British Columbia. In 1917 he was appointed superintendent of the Canadian Collieries (D) Limited, a position which he held until this year when he became consulting engineer of the Canadian Collieries and the Western Fuel Corporation of Nanaimo.

Toronto, April 8.—Miss Louise Marchese, Vancouver, won the Canadian amateur typewriting championship here Saturday from fourteen other entrants in the competition. Miss Marchese made net rate of 104 words per minute.

Miss Elsie Kernikson, Gananoque, Ont., was second with a rate of 100 words per minute, while Miss Ann Kreutzer, Winnipeg, was third with 93 words per minute.

Rev. H. B. Gray Dies in England

London, April 8.—The death yesterday of Rev. Herbert Brankston Gray, D.C., vicar of Lynton, Devonshire, removed a famous educationalist, who in addition to being a great classical scholar, was also well known in the field of athletics. In the earlier days as warden of the well-known Bradfield College in Berkshire, the foundation of which he well laid, he could run, box and play games with the best of scholars.

Dr. Gray turned a chalk pit, which had fallen into disuse, into a model theatre and produced Greek plays, for which the school provided a bonus. He also devoted considerable energy to providing careers for "unbookish" boys, and in 1909 founded the educational branch for public school boys in the Province of Alberta. One of his two sons is now living in Canada.

Dr. Gray was born in 1851, and was educated at Winchester and Queen's College, Oxford. In 1926 he was appointed vicar of Lynton, a seaside resort on the north Devon coast.

HOCKEY &amp; BOXING

Three Fistic Champs Will Go Into Action In Non-title Bouts

Dundee, Mandell and Schwartz Will All Be Engaged This Week; Fifteen-round Struggle Between "Kid" Chocolate, Cuban Sensation, and Bushy Graham in New York Is Drawing Considerable Interest; Will Mark Opening of New Coliseum Dundee Will Meet Stiff Opponent in Al Mello.

New York, April 8.—Three champions, Dundee, Mandell and Schwartz, will swing into fistic action this week but perhaps the closest approach to a championship battle will be the fifteen-round bantamweight struggle in the New York Coliseum next Friday night with "Kid" Chocolate, dusky Cuban star, and Bushy Graham of Utica, N.Y., as the principals.

Chocolate and Graham, together with Fido La Barba and Al Brown, generally are recognized as the greatest of the present bantamweights. Chocolate, however, already has been finding it difficult to make 118 pounds. As a matter of fact most of his recent campaigning has been done under 122 pounds. The clever Cuban negro is growing and soon will be a full fledged featherweight.

Graham is a flash in the ring and the experts, although favoring Chocolate, believe the Utica star will give the Cuban the stiffest argument he has had in this country. Their bout will mark the opening of the Coliseum, a huge indoor arena not far from the Yankee Stadium. The arena, once the exposition hall of the Philadelphia Sesqui-centennial exhibition, was transferred to New York in sections. It will seat 18,500 at present, although the capacity eventually may be increased to 32,000.

Of the three champions who are down for non-title engagements this week, Joe Dundee, the welterweight king, seems slated for the toughest struggle. Joe meets Al Mello of Lowell at the Boston Garden on Friday night in a charity show, originally scheduled for some weeks ago. Dundee's arm was injured, however, and the show was postponed. Mello, a hard hitter and willing mixer, decisively outpointed the champion in another non-title engagement at Boston late in January, this year.

Izzy Schwartz, still recognized as flyweight champion by the New York State Boxing Commission, meets Roy Welles of Manila, in a ten-round non-championship battle at San Francisco on Friday night. Walley will not make the flyweight limit of 112 pounds.

Sammy Mandell, clever champion of the lightweight, engages Benny Duke, a crafty English boy, in a ten-round match at Grand Rapids, on Friday.

Philadelphia's card-to-night offers a heavyweight fracas between Con O'Kelly of Ireland and Harold Mays. It will go on rounds or less as will the semi-main event between Baby Joe Gans, Los Angeles negro junior welterweight, and Jackie Brady of Syracuse.

Boxing offers a good line-up of lightweight action at the Olympia arena on Thursday night. Billy Wallace, hard-hitting Cleveland star, and Tommy Gorgan, the knock-out artist from Omaha, clash in the main event, and Lewis (Kid) Kavan of Meriden, Conn., and Joe McNeil of Chicago in the semi-main event. Both bouts are for ten rounds.

DOO-DADS WIN ISLAND TITLE

McKenzie's Basket Gives Local Hoop Team 15-14 Victory Over Port Alberni

Doo-Dads, local intermediate "B" boys' basketball champions, defeated the Fort Alberni Nine-O's by a 15-14 score Saturday night to win the Vancouver Island Championship in their division. The Victoria boys played the Island title after a long trip, and employed the five-man defense system to perfection.

With the score tied at 14 all, and but a few seconds to go, Colin McKenzie was awarded a free shot, which he counted. Immediately after the final whistle sounded, D. Galliford refereed.

The teams were as follows: Doo-Dads—Gibson 6, McCullough, Caddell 8, Johnson, McKenzie 1, Brown and McInnes. Fort Alberni—Patterson 3, Hay, Williamson 9, McDonald, Motion, and Dorey 2.

PETE MAFFEO AGAIN HEADS ISLAND LOOP

Re-elected President of Baseball League at Meeting Yesterday

Eddie Rowbottom Vice-president For Lower Island; Season Opens Middle of May

Pete Maffeo of Nanaimo was re-elected president of the Vancouver Island Baseball League at the annual meeting held in Nanaimo yesterday afternoon. Cecil Mulholland of Nanaimo was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The meeting was attended by representatives from all the island clubs and final arrangements were made for the coming season.

Edgar Rowbottom of Victoria was elected vice-president to represent the lower island, while Dave Macfarlane, of Nanaimo, was elected vice-president representing the upper island. A. F. Pass of Port Alberni is the vice-president for the lower island.

CLUBS ENTHUSIASTIC All the clubs are enthusiastic about the coming season, and the league appears to be in for a bumper year. The league will in all probability be composed of six clubs, the same as last year. Vancouver, Nanaimo, and Port Alberni have the advantage, and will have to play the other three teams in the league.

The league will be operated in two sections, upper and lower, with the Victoria Capitals, Duncan and Chemainus in the lower, and Nanaimo, Courtenay and Port Alberni in the upper.

Home and away games will be played between the teams in each section, and the teams in each section will meet each other in two home and away games during the season.

At the end of the season the leading teams in the two halves will play-off for the league championship.

The playing schedule will be drawn up immediately. The league will open about the middle of May.

A number of the up-island clubs have started practicing already, and have also been getting ready to play in the first class league. At the present time Courtenay have about the best diamond on the island.

CITY BADLY BEATEN BY VANCOUVER

Hotel Vancouver, Second Division Champs, Troupe Locals 4-1 in Cup Tie

City's Lone Goal Comes From Penalty; Visitors Lead 2-0 at Half-time

Any hopes Victoria City, local soccer champions, might have had of winning the Province Cup, received a rude jolt on Saturday afternoon when they were handed a 4-1 setback at the hands of Hotel Vancouver, second division champions of Vancouver. The Mainlanders were a far superior club, outclassing the local eleven at all stages of the game. The three goals difference was just Vancouver's margin of victory.

The City sorely missed the aggressive Alex Cameron at right wing. On Friday Cameron received a three-month suspension for misconduct on the field of play, and this fact had considerable to do with the poor exhibition given by the City players. The whole City eleven were away off their game and their showing was a big disappointment to the fans.

For the first time in the history of play Victoria City, with the wind in their favor, pressed but the Vancouver backs and halves proved steady. Several times the Vancouver back line broke down, but the City players proved to be one of the best net minders to appear here for some time.

Seattle Negro Beats Salo In Bitter Race

Ed. Gardner Continues Fine Showing in C. C. Pyle's Transcontinental Derby by Finishing First in Yesterday's Gruelling Fifty-two-mile Lap From Frederick to Hancock; Engages in Bitter Struggle With John Salo, Present Leader, But Pulls Away on Final Stretch; Four More Runners Drop Out.

Hancock, Md., April 8.—Thomas B. Ellis of Hamilton, Ont., who stood thirteenth in elapsed time in C. C. Pyle's bunion derby, dropped from competition yesterday because he was kicked in a tendon by a runner. Although he finished Saturday, he suffered great pain. Yesterday at the starting point he announced he was through. He finished last year's jaunt from the Pacific Coast, although not in the money.

LOHMAN'S LEFT BEATS MILLER

Toledo Heavyweight Too Clever For Dusky Local Fighter in Ten Fast Rounds

Uncorking the sweetest left hand ever seen here, Joe Lohman, heavyweight, who claims Toledo as his home port, made Dusky Miller, local lightweight, look like rather tame in their ten-round bout at the Tiltium gymnasium on Saturday night in a heavy milling affair. Lohman was given the decision by Referee Roy Baker, who credited him with four rounds, while Miller was given three and three were even.

In the opinion of newspapermen present, Lohman won eight rounds, while two were even. Miller was on the receiving end practically the whole fight. Lohman opened up with his left hand at the very start, relying on this punch throughout the whole bout, and it certainly landed frequently on Miller's midriff. This was not much power in the least, however.

On several occasions the local fighter had to be warned for using the "kidney punch." Lohman was guilty as well and Referee Baker gave each a final warning before the last round started.

Throughout the early rounds Lohman had a big advantage and he easily won the first five rounds. He would fight with his right hand and then sink his accurate left into the side of Miller's body. The sixth round was a draw, with Miller landing a couple of good blows to Lohman's face. In the eighth Lohman made Miller retreat with a left hook to the body and right cross to the jaw. In the last round Miller tried hard for a knockout, but Lohman kept away and the round ended with Lohman badly marked as a result of the ten rounds of fast fighting. As a matter of fact neither fighter was damaged.

In the semi-windup Charlie Bradshaw won the decision from Cowboy Frankie Doyle of Port Angeles. Bradshaw was far the better man, out-boxing the Port Angeles boy throughout the four rounds.

Brilliant Swim Prodigy — By Jimmy Thompson

The dual meet held Saturday last at Toronto Central "Y" arranged by Alex Duff of the Dolphins at forty-eight hours' notice was an unequalled success. This meet brought to light the greatest world champion hope in the world of swimming that Canada has ever developed.

Miss Marjory Linton, a young miss under twelve years of age, is the brilliant star in the firmament who, under the present rate of development, will probably be the fastest woman swimmer in the world. She will be the Martha Nabors, or Eleanor Holm, of Canada, only faster.

She is both a free style and back stroke swimmer and in an exhibition of the latter style she clipped four seconds off the previous Canadian record, not bad for an eleven-year-old stippling. Not content with this, Miss Linton swam an exhibition 220 yards at Broadway "Y" on Wednesday night and clipped no less than nineteen seconds off the old record.

Miss Irene O'Brien, Miss Huestis and Miss Betty Edwards have been the Canadian champions and record holders in recent years in dorsal swimming and Miss Mary Casson can uncover a burst of speed also in this style. The are all eclipsed by this mean child, who should beat the world before she is three years older. Alex Duff, her coach, has a great responsibility on his hands and to him all credit is due for this girl's success and in him lies her future.

3 to 2, and the afternoon encounter, 11 to 10.

The morning game was won in the first inning when Lombardi, giant young catcher for the Oaks, smashed a line drive through centre field into the clubhouse with the bases loaded, making a complete circuit for four runs. The lead held for the rest of the game.

The afternoon game almost resulted in a draw for Oakland when Seattle scored eight runs in the ninth inning to take the lead. The Oaks came back with two more tallies to win. Young Lombardi and McEvoy in the ninth for Oakland.

JOHN GILBERT IN NEW ROLE AT DOMINION

Popular Star Has Leading Part in "Desert Nights" Here Three Days

With Settings Laid in Africa Picture Has Synchronized Score and Sound Effects

A realistically sustained terror and a grim suspense make "Desert Nights" John Gilbert's new M-G-M film with synchronized score and sound effects, which opened at the Dominion Theatre to-day, a thing apart.

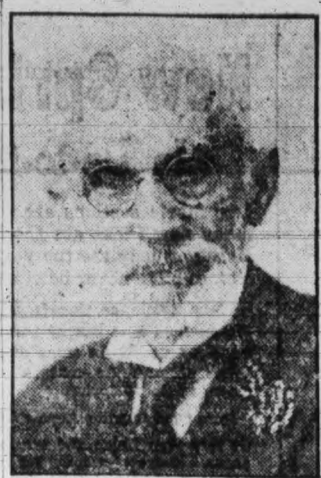

It tells a vivid and gripping story of these individuals at the mercy of the primitive wastes of an African desert. Withholding in anguish for the want of a little water, and suffering untold agonies of fear, these three are gripped in a veritable cry of terror. The film depicts their suffering and their fear with a startling dramatic realism and it also carries a most unusual love theme. Each of the three characters stands out in bold clear-cut lines.

Gilbert is seen in an entirely new and different role that of a youthful diamond mine manager in the heart of dark Africa. His well known features are masked in a black and heavy beard. Never before in his career has this star had such a forced and thoroughly dramatic role in which to display his smouldering personality.

Appearing first as the hard working, clean cut "boss" of a huge diamond mine, engaging hundreds of dark-skinned natives, he is all business, but later as he is made a prisoner by a boogus stockholder and his confederates, his entire personality changes. The sensational and daring robbery, which it was humanly impossible for him to avert, implants within him a desire for revenge, and when the opportunity comes, as it does when they are all lost in the heart of a vast desert, he unfolds some strange and gripping drama that is as powerful as any this reviewer has ever seen on either stage or screen.

Thousands Clamor To Hear Tagore and Viscount Willingdon

Indian Poet, Philosopher and Mystic Fascinates Great Crowd as He Reads His "Philosophy of Leisure" at National Council of Education Gathering; Governor-General Lauds Work of Council as Way to International Peace.

From the stage of the Royal Victoria Theatre, Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General of Canada, and Sir Rabin-drath Tagore, world renowned philosopher, poet and mystic, spoke Saturday night at one of the conference feature events of the National Council of Education.

Every seat in the theatre was occupied, while 2,000 persons in a line that stretched up Broughton Street to Quadra clamored for a chance to get in.

In the right hand lower box sat Lady Willingdon, Lieutenant-Governor Randolph Bragg, Miss Helen Mackenzie, members of the Governor-General's party from Ottawa, Government House guests and some Hindu associates of Tagore.

The stage was banked across the footlights with a mass of Easter lilies arranged by Miss Irene Wilson and Miss Sara Spencer.

A microphone connected to amplifiers in the distant parts of the theatre carried the mild voice of India's "sublime poet and philosopher," as he read his long dissertation on the "Philosophy of Leisure" clearly to every ear in the great audience.

With his long, flowing locks, and dressed in a bristled gown that swept the floor, Tagore held the uninterrupted attention of the audience through the abstruse revelation of his eastern philosophy. Only once was there a ripple through the theatre, and that was when the philosopher made deprecating reference to modern high heeled shoes, which, he intimated, were spoiling the female foot as it had been given to mankind by nature.

The crowd was fascinated by the angelic countenance of the poet, which lighted up divinely at times during his reading of his philosophy.

Sir Harry Cockshutt, former Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, presided and introduced the Governor-General.

A series of slides showing educational institutions in India was run on the screen, before Sir Harry took the centre of the stage.

He read a good will cable from Premier Bruce of Australia and welcomed the various delegates from parts other than the British Empire.

"This is a restless age and only by a deep study of existing conditions by eminent educationalists can our thoughts be directed along some channel towards a greater understanding between all nations," said Sir Harry.

Viscount Willingdon greeted all the delegates on behalf of the people of Canada, and hoped that during their visit they would learn something of the resources, beauties and activities of this country.

"Through the agency of the National Council of Education, it has been found possible to get distinguished experts to tour this country and to keep Canadians informed on various matters of public interest in various parts of the world," Lord Willingdon said. "And the importance of these educational conferences is going to increase as time goes on."

"In my opinion we shall get nearer that will to peace by gatherings of this sort, quite unclouded in their character with people gathered from all parts of the world to discuss some common subject and for some common purpose."

"I hope that as a result of these discussions we may arrive one step nearer the goal we are working for—peace and good will among the nations of the world."

He went on to say that the National Council would not have been possible if it had not been for the generous efforts of leading citizens of Canada, who had made it possible. He mentioned Major Roy Willingdon, secretary, declaring that he was "largely responsible for the great success of the organization."

"Major Roy's zeal and energy are quite untiring, and he is one of those secretaries who will never take 'no' for an answer," Lord Willingdon said.

In passing reference to the approaching gathering of the Governor-General said he thought that in his own school days he "was more efficient in the school than in educational activities," and was pleased to discuss educational matters to "wiser heads."

"All the world is striving for peace after experiencing the horrors and tragedies of the Great War," Lord Willingdon went on. There is a sincere appreciation of the efforts made by statesmen of every country through peace, agreements and discussions of international importance to get nearer to the ideal of peace. In my opinion we will get nearer to the will for peace and achieve the world-wide peace that we so much desire in gatherings of this sort."

As the Governor-General retired from the centre of the stage to take a seat in the Governor's box, Tagore arose and, without introducing himself, Sir Harry Cockshutt, spoke a few words of greeting from his country of India. He then started on his manuscript.

The complete manuscript of "Philosophy of Leisure," as he read it, was not made available for publication as it was explained that Tagore intended to publish it as a copyrighted book. However, the following report, analysis and interpretation as prepared by Professor Andrews, the poet's manager, was issued by his publicity department for publication by the newspapers:

REALM OF LEISURE

"Truth has its other aspect which is described by the Upanishad-Vedanta as the aspect of comprehension, its aspect of joy. It is the realm of wisdom and love where mere dimension, number and speed have no meaning; where the value of truth is realized by matured mind through patient devotion, self-control and concentration of faculties. It has its atmosphere of infinity in a world of leisure across which comes invisible messengers of life and light, bringing their silent voices of creation."

"The process of the packing of fruit gains its merit according to the speed it attains by efficient organization."

REALM OF WISDOM

"The spirit of progress is neither mortal nor immortal. With equal inference it uses its efficiency in inflicting as well as in healing wounds, in helping us in a perfect system of robbery, and at the same time, in a perfect organization of charity for those who suffer in consequence. Through intelligent dealings with Nature's potentialities, it achieves success, either for intruding the world into a blood-oozing abyss of torment or for reclaiming a new world of life from the void," said Sir Rabin-drath.

This realm of progress is described in the Upanishads as Anna Brahma—the infinite in its outer aspect of utility. It has its urge in man for realizing the immeasurable in the domain of quantity through an endless process of measurement which is progress. Directly we lose our faith in it through lethargy or diffidence, we lapse into an animal state in this material universe, and fall passively under the law of natural selection.

"The rule of natural selection finds its full way in a close system of life, but rigidly limited resources and restricted possibilities. Man broke the prison wall open, declared his sovereignty and refused to be contented with the small pleasure originally allotted to him by Nature and sought to enable him to carry on a perpetual process of evolution."

He unlocked the hidden resources of Nature, utilized them for his own indomitable purposes. This is not materialism; for it is the conquest of matter that has been achieved by the human spirit which refuses to acknowledge the limits to its power. But the declaration of its independence and its persistence has to be maintained by a vigorously incessant justification, for this independence can never reach an absolute finality. It is but a sailing

Patriarchal Figure At Conference

SIR RABINDRANATH TAGORE Indian poet, who is the most picturesque figure attending the National Council of Education Conference, now proceeding to Vancouver.

"A true gentleman is the product of centuries of cultivated leisure that have moulded his character into a vision of honor whose value is higher than that of life itself. When I first visited Japan I had the opportunity of observing the two parts of the human sphere strongly contrasted; one of which grew up the ancient continents of social ideals, standards of beauty, codes of personal behavior, and on the other part, the fluid element, the perpetual current that carried wealth to its shores from all countries of the world. In half a century's time Japan has been able to capture for herself the mighty spirit of progress which suddenly burst upon her one morning in a storm of insult and menace. China also had her rousing when her self-respect was being knocked to pieces through series of helpless years and I am sure she will not be long before she has the instrument which hurt her to the quick. But the ideals that imparted life and body to Japanese civilization had been nourished in the reverent hopes of generations through ages which were not principally occupied in an incessant pursuit of a runaway arithmetic, which has been often traced as being in their progress for the last century. These ideals had become one with the nature of the people, and therefore these people were often unconscious of their preciousness, while they were noisily proud of some culture from a foreign market for which they had to pay in cash, because of its utility, and not in sacrifice, which is claimed by a truth that has its ultimate value in itself. It is something like being beautiful of an expensive pair of high-heeled shoes which insult the beautiful contour of the living feet, reached in man through ages of revolution. "We have seen the modern factories in Japan, seen numerous mechanical organizations and engines of destruction of the latest type. Along with them we also see some fragile vase, some sun piece of silk, some prohibition of sublime simplicity, some perfect lyric of bodily movement. Also we have seen these people's expression of courtesy daily extracting from them a considerable amount of time and trouble, their traditions of behavior, any deviation from which, however, inevitable, so often drove them to suicide. All these have come not from any accurate knowledge of things, but from an intense consciousness of the value of reality which takes time for its realization. What Japan reveals in its skillful manipulation of telegraphic wires and railway lines, of machines for manufacturing things and for killing men is more or less similar to what we see in other countries which have a similar opportunity for training. But in its art of living, its pictures, its codes of conduct, the various forms of beauty, which its religious and social ideals assume, Japan reveals its own personality which, in order to be of any worth, must be unique. This national personality acquires its richness from its assimilation of some ideal, and not from its possession of some trade secret, some up-to-date machinery of efficiency.

EFFECT ON LIFE'S IDEALS

"What gives us cause for anxiety is the fact that this spirit of progress acquires a great deal more of our mind to-day than the deeper life-process of our being, which requires depth of leisure for its sustenance. In the present age the larger part of our growth takes place on the outside, and our inner spirit has not the time to accept it and harmonize it into a synthesis of creation. In other words, the modern world has not allowed itself time to evolve a religion, a profound principle of reconciliation that can fashion out of all conflicting elements a living work of art, a society. The creative ideal of life, necessary for giving expression to the fullness of humanity, was developed centuries ago. And when to-day these sufferings and some misfit as a result of a constant expansion of knowledge, and a variety of new experiences, we fail to adjust them into a comprehensive completeness.

"We grow accustomed to a spiritual slovenliness, being constantly familiar with the messes of an enormous traffic, with the discarded fragments waiting to be relegated to their proper places, which requires time. And we may say time is money, while we forget to say that leisure is wealth, the wealth which is a creation of human spirit whose material may be money.

"Invention, construction and organization are spreading fast along the high road of our history, but the creative genius of man is every day losing its dignity. It accepts cheap payments from the busy multitude, it is engaged in always keeping irreverent and unsteady before the face of things men hold sacred and tries to prove that the ideals of social life which have given us grace, the majesty of self-mastery and heroism of voluntary acceptance of suffering were most part unreal, false coins made current by the weak for the pathetic purpose of self-deception. Compressed in a crowded time has its life when dealing with material things, but living truths are being lost for the sake of the

EDUCATION TO TEACH FULLEST MODE OF LIFE

Ernest Raymond Interprets Broad Spirit of Conference to Cathedral Congregation

Governor-General Read Lessons at Special Service For Delegates Sunday

"The business of education is not primarily to enable us to pass exams and win degrees, nor even to enable us to earn a living, but to teach us to live. Education and life are interchangeable terms. The word 'education' is somewhat austere and forbidding, quite without charm, yet it is the name of, perhaps, the loveliest thing in the world. The joy of living is precisely the same thing as education; it signifies living deeply, living fully, getting the complete richness of our highest selves."

This broad interpretation of the purpose of education was the subject of the inspiring address given by Ernest Raymond, the brilliant English author and notable member of the delegation at the conference of the National Council of Education, before a congregation which filled Christ Church Cathedral to capacity yesterday morning.

LESSONS BY HIS EXCELLENCY

Among the congregation were His Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Willingdon, Hon. R. R. Bruce and Miss Mackenzie, delegates to the conference and members of the local committee of the Provincial Education, members of the school board and other public bodies. Viscount Willingdon read the lessons.

Tall and rather austere in appearance, Mr. Raymond in his address touched a deep spiritual note, taking as the keynote of his address the Divine message "I am come that they may have life and have it more abundantly." After observing that the business of education was not primarily to prepare for the passing of examinations, the taking of degrees, or the preparation for the earning of a living, he declared that all teachers would do well to remember in their imagination this Divine message over the doors of their classrooms every morning as a source of inspiration in their teaching.

TO TEACH A FULLER LIVING

The conference on education through the medium of its deliberations on art, music, the radio, was seeking to increase the receptiveness of the people to lighten their burdens, to lighten their minds, to lighten their hearts, to lighten their souls, to lighten their lives as it were. This process of lightening the power of living was simply the

GREAT THRONING IS BLESSED BY POPE

Vatican City, April 8.—From a window in his private apartment in the Vatican, Pope Pius yesterday morning bestowed a pontifical blessing upon 25,000 veterans of Italy's famous Alpine Guards who assembled in St. Peter's Square with at least 50,000 other persons.

After the mountain veterans had attended mass in St. Peter's they assembled by companies in the great open space and waited patiently for the sun to break through the low hanging clouds and dispel the slight rain. Almost at the moment the first rays of sunshine came, the great window was thrown open and the white cloud figure stood revealed with his right arm raised in a gesture of benediction. A tremendous ovation that would not be denied greeted him and his Holiness, who was himself an alpine climber in his youth, seemed to be greatly moved.

HINDU AUTHOR IS MURDERED

Lahore, India, April 8.—Rajpal, Hindu author of a pamphlet which created a sensation among Moslems two years ago by the levity with which it treated the Prophet Mohammed, was stabbed through the heart at Anarkali Bazaar Saturday. He died immediately. A Moslem was arrested for the crime.

Rajpal was the author of "Rang-lary"—the merry prophet—a pamphlet which caused much resentment among the Moslems. Soon after it had been published, Rajpal was set upon in a Lahore street and stabbed three times. Two of the wounds were severe, but he recovered.

When life was young and Cupid ruled, And he to her was dear, She could not bear him from her sight; And loved to find him near. — But since they wed, ten years ago, He's grown quite mean, I hear, And now when she wants hats or gloves She hates to find him "bear!"

BIG CAMPAIGN ON IN BRITAIN

Sir Herbert Samuel, one of the Liberal leaders, started on a tour of Britain today. He will make hundreds of speeches. From Liberal headquarters in London, ex-Premier Lloyd George cheered his chief lieutenant with a characteristic message, emphasizing the social reform aspect of the Liberal programme and declaring the party had united its efforts in a determination to "revivify these islands of unemployment, homelessness, agricultural depression and overcrowded poverty of towns from which the nation is suffering."

The Conservatives and Laborites are not yet as active vocally as the Liberals, but are just as busy behind the scenes.

LABOR MANIFESTO

The Labor leaders' manifesto is nearing completion. With 5,000,000 new young women voters always in mind, the Laborites are concentrating their efforts on the national conference of Labor women at Buxton April 23, where former Premier Ramsay MacDonald is to be the chief speaker.

CONSERVATIVES' PLANS

Premier Baldwin returned to Downing Street after week-end conferences with party chiefs at Chequers, country residence of the British Prime Minister, and brought the draft of the Conservative campaign programme for submission to the Cabinet.

The budget speech next week of Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill will be a kind of keynote campaign utterance, which Mr. Baldwin will follow.

up with important speeches at London and Bristol. It will also disclose what are expected to be some financial surprises. Hitherto reserved for campaign effect.

COMMUNISTS CAMPAIGNING

Even the British Communists are busy. "Class against class" is the slogan with which they will put twenty-five candidates into the field, driving particularly against such prominent Labor leaders as Mr. MacDonald, Rt. Hon. John R. Clynes and Margaret Bondfield.

Many a man at forty wishes he knew what he thought he knew at twenty. The reason a man thinks more of his typist than his wife is because he can dictate to her. It is a sad reflection that many a young man quite poetry making after he marries the girl!

Frogs and toads destroy vast numbers of insects and worms.

Rub the Spine

If you believe the spine is the seat of most of your physical ills and more people are thinking so every day, just give it a gentle massage every night with Joint-Ease and watch the helpful results. Many people are getting it daily from good pharmacists. The name is Joint-Ease and it's the one big discovery for stiff, swollen, inflamed joints—and a tube for only 60 cents. (Adv.)

The news will be received with regret by a wide circle of friends in this city, where the young man lived until leaving for the Orient about a year ago.

THREE YEAR SENTENCES FOR THEFTS

Robert Watson and Wilfred Jenkins Must Serve Term in Okalla

Reputations Against Them, Confessed Thieves Say in Court

Sentences of three years each were imposed upon Robert Watson and Wilfred Jenkins by Magistrate George Jay, in City Police Court this morning. Both pleaded guilty on several charges of theft.

"I have tried to go straight, but nobody would give me a chance. Nobody would give me a job," said Watson just previous to the passing of sentence.

"That goes for me, too," Jenkins added. "My reputation has run against me in the way of looking for steady work."

Five previous convictions against Watson and four against Jenkins were recorded. City Prosecutor Harrison told the court.

"Your reputation is what you have made it," said Magistrate Jay.

SUITS STOLEN

The two accused were arrested by Detectives Marcus Phipps and William Stark. The first charge against the pair was of breaking and entering the City Bye Works, Port Street, and stealing two suits of clothes, one pair of trousers and one sweater coat. Further investigation by Detectives Phipps and Stark resulted in three other charges being laid.

Watson was charged with breaking and entering a store at 810 Catherine Street and stealing a quantity of cigarettes and also with attempting to enter a store at 760 Esquimalt Road. Detective Phipps explained that the cigarettes taken in the first case had been recovered in Watson's home and that in the second case Watson had been disturbed after breaking a window in the rear of the store.

LOOK AT FAVORABLE

Watson and Jenkins were both charged with the theft of an automobile from James Wood, 2667 Empress Street. Mr. Wood told the court his car, a Nash sedan, had been taken from the garage during the night of March 20.

The accused pleaded guilty on all charges.

Innocents And Guilty Feature Gyro Luncheon

Hilarity featured to-day's weekly luncheon of the Gyro Club held at the Chamber of Commerce. In recognition of April's birthday stone, the diamond, typical innocents, five alleged "innocents" were presented with birthday gifts. The recipients were John Clay, William Hudson Thomas McCar, Trustee Bert Holden and Harry Horder.

Six members, charged with varied offences and dubbed guilty without trial, were lined up by sergeant-at-law, Bert Subbald, and compelled to sing the Prisoner's Song, to the delight of the assembly. The victims were Noel Corbin, A. Wills, Harold Buttle, Leslie Hall, Jack Clay and Cy Foxton.

An amusing acquaintance stunt was held, twelve members being required to give intimate details of each other's lives.

Alfred Carmichael, the guest speaker, gave a review of the early native civilizations of the Pacific Coast, and the wide range of knowledge accumulated by the native tribes before the coming of the white races.

MACHINERY HAS SHARP LIMITS

President of Birmingham University Addresses Metropolitan Congregation

Sir Charles Grant Robertson, president of the University of Birmingham, occupied Metropolitan Church pulpit last night. He was introduced by Rev. Dr. Spruell, pastor of the church, who conducted the service.

Sir Charles expressed his pleasure at being in Victoria and his appreciation of the privilege of speaking in Metropolitan Church.

He emphasized the purpose of the National Council of Education, as being an effort to educate the public for leisure and indicated that the fundamental basis of this was a spiritual basis. He instanced the fact that the present age was an age of machinery and the development of mechanical devices of all sorts, as though all problems of life might be solved if only we could discover the right sort of machine.

ON WRONG TRACK

Sir Charles was of the conviction that the world was on the wrong track and that this had been indicated by the crash of materialism as evidenced by the outbreak of the Great War.

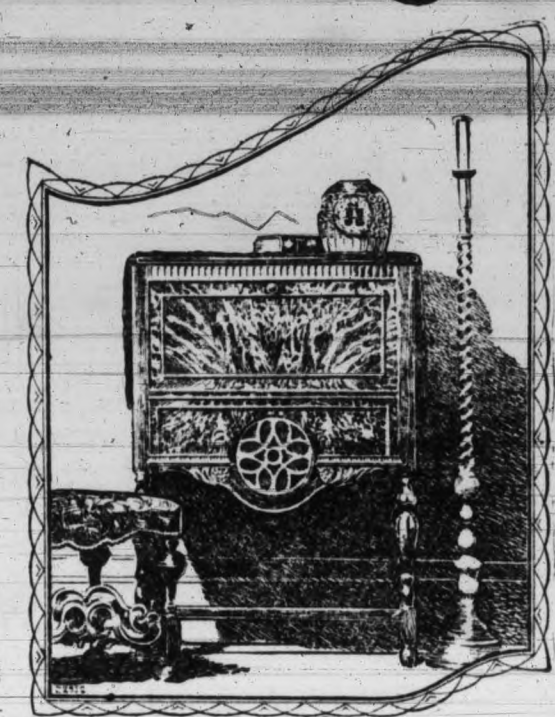

More time should be given to the development of the spirit of contemplation and the accomplishment of leisure, and that men should not be in such a hurry about doing things.

The speaker declared that the scientific outlook of forty years ago, which proposed to discover a new religion, a new social ethic and a new area for the imagination, had been broken down and that science was now obliged to seek a new path which it would undoubtedly find and lead the way to greater triumphs than before.

Sir Charles spoke of the economic distress through which Britain had passed since the war, but said this period was now at a close. A new era of hope was dawning for England, he asserted.

It is stated, Mr. Zafers subsequently became identified with another restaurant nearby on Johnson Street, known as the Busy Bee Cafe.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Tinymites were quite amazed. In fact, they stood still, almost dazed, and watched brave little Cloway as he scampered through the air. The lightning streak that he had found held him up safe. It seemed just sound. Just where the streak would lead him to, he didn't seem to care.

Then Cloway shouted, "Hey, come back. If you slip off that lightning streak, you'll take a tumble down through space. And then where will you be? The earth is many miles below, and if you fall that's where you'll go. Why take such a foolish risk I surely cannot see."

"Don't fret," cried Cloway, from afar. "You all can stay right where you are, but I am going up this streak until I find out where it leads to. Then I will return. Think of the new things I may learn. Of course, this may be dangerous, but frankly, I don't care."

Thus from his trip he wouldn't swerve. Said Cloway, "Well, he sure has nerve. All we can do is wait here till he comes running back. I feel that he'll find something wrong, and for the trip won't be so strong. For goodness he should be spanked. Let's all give him a whack."

By this time Cloway stood real still, high in the sky. My, what a thrill, he was up the lightning streak and found a wondrous thing. "Ah, ha," said he, "I'll call the bunch to join me now. I have a hunch that they will thank me kindly for the pleasure this will bring."

Before him stood a monstrous cloud. No wonder Cloway felt so proud. The cloud was labeled "Thunderland" in letters very clear. He called back to the Tinymites, "Come up and see some brand new sights. I've found the land of Thunder, and there's not a thing to fear."

To-morrow's Horoscope

TUESDAY, APRIL 9, 1929

Good and evil planetary aspects to-day, according to astrology. The rule is: be lieved to bring about surprises and pre-emptive disputes. At the junction of this date Jupiter and Venus are in aspects supposed to increase trade and encourage prosperity. The British government will now face a crisis. It is foretold that will be met successfully. New men at the helm of the British government are predicted and women in parliament will have a chance to win praise for wise policies. Novel systems of business co-operation are to be worked out by England and America, the seers prophesy, and these will benefit all concerned. This should be a fairly lucky wedding day if the bride and bridegroom avoid accidents and expressing differences of opinion. For to-day there is a fair promise for those who direct financial affairs in stores or in government offices. Women are to benefit to-day and again there is promise of their outstanding success as bankers or financial leaders. Under this direction of the stars the will to do probably will be strong, and for this reason stubbornness will be evident in many human relations. This way is supposed to stimulate psychic consciousness and to cause many to make unusual experiences for those that are real. Persons whose birthdate it is probably will have a year in which they reach the end of a certain period of activity and start into new environment. They should avoid disputes. Children born on this day may travel widely. Both boys and girls may have a distinct interest in aviation, but they should beware of accidents. The subjects of this sign sunily are extreme in their views. (Copyright, 1929)

"Root to toot! Teetly toot!" sang Uncle Wiggily one morning.

"What's the matter now?" asked the wife, who was confining the dots in a polka dress belonging to Jingle. Mrs. Longears wanted to see if her little rabbit girl had lost any of the polka dots, but she had not. I am glad to say.

"Teetly toot! Teetly de toot!" sang Uncle Wiggily again.

"Dear me! Is there a button off your shirt or can't you find your red white and blue striped rheumatism douch?" asked Mrs. Longears. "What's the matter?"

"Nothing. I'm just happy. This is all," said Mr. Longears. "I was only singing!"

"Oh, singing! Well, I'm glad you told me what it was," said Mrs. Longears with a laugh. "Sounded to me like a steam whistle!"

"Oh, I'm full of steam this morning!" cried Uncle Wiggily as he jumped up and down. "I'm going out this lovely April day and I think I shall have a fine adventure!"

"I hope you do," said his wife as she stepped a knife from tickling a fork while Nurse Jane was getting ready to wash the dishes. "But you had better take your umbrella, for it looks like April showers."

"Better take your umbrella," said Squeakie.

"I will," said Uncle Wiggily. Soon, with his trusty umbrella under his paw he hopped out of his hollow stump bungalow over the fields and through the woods. He hopped past the pen where lived Mrs. Twistytail, the fat lady pig.

"Where are you going, Uncle Wiggily?" grunted Mrs. Twistytail.

"I'm going adventuring," answered the rabbit.

"Better take your umbrella," warned the fat pig. "It looks like April showers."

"I have it, thank you," answered the rabbit gentleman, and then he hopped along and along until he passed the knot-hole house in the board fence where the Loggans lived.

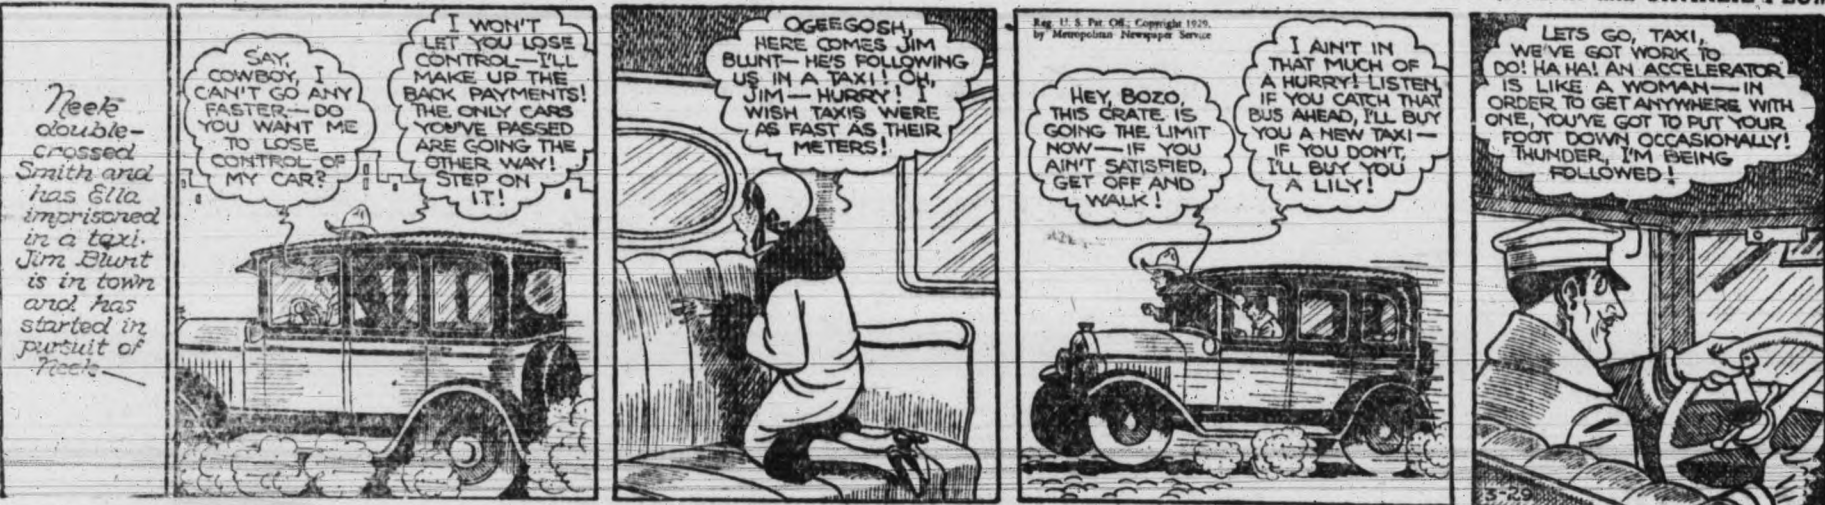

"Where are you going, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Squeakie Eekle the cousin mouse who had cheese fever and wasn't at school that day.

"I'm going adventuring," answered the bunny uncle.

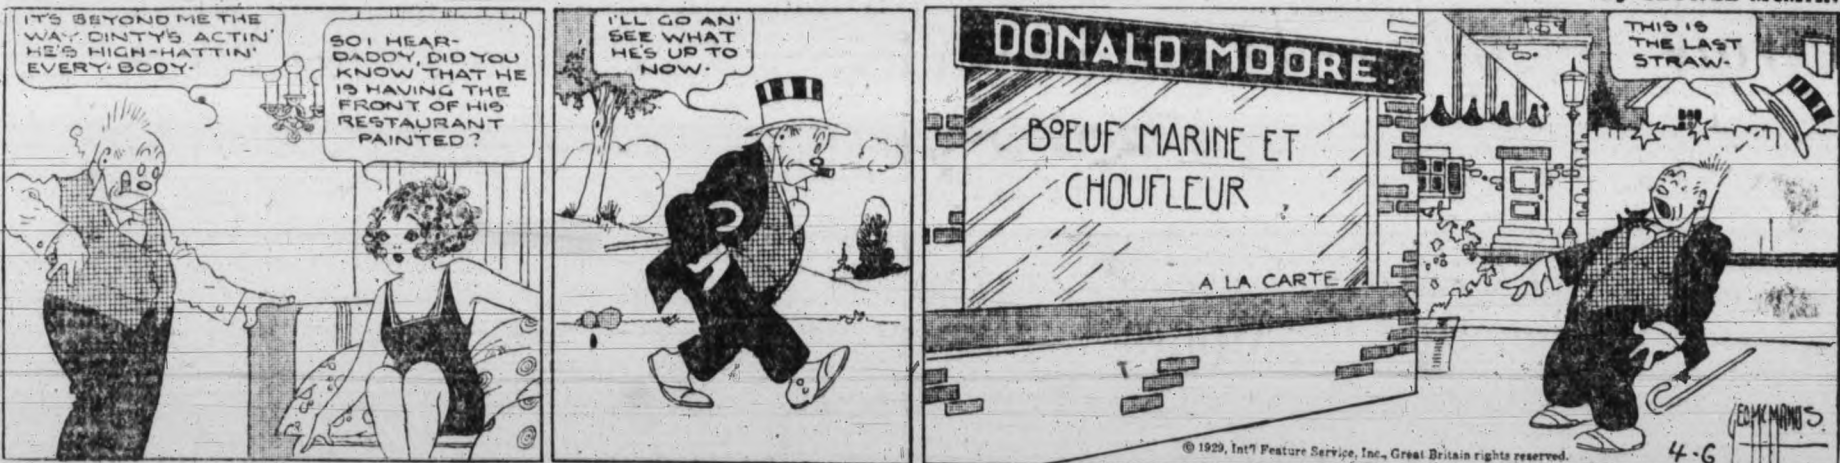

"Better take your umbrella," said Squeakie. "It's going to rain!"

"Oh, I am ready for the rain!" and Uncle Wiggily laughed at the funny way Squeakie Eekle talked. Clapping his umbrella tighter under his paw he hopped along until all of a sudden the sun was made dark by some clouds and Mr. Longears said:
